

I hope you and your orchids are doing well today :-)

If you remember from yesterday, we talked about how orchids absolutely LOVE humidity...

And how maintaining a high humidity level in your orchid's environment is absolutely ESSENTIAL to get your little "beauty" to give you those gorgeous blooms again!

Today, we continue our "Top 10" List of the most common reasons why an orchid won't rebloom from our book:

<http://www.OrchidsMadeEasy.com/TheBook.html>

And without further delay, let's get right to it!

THE TOP 10 REASONS WHY YOUR ORCHID WON'T REBLOOM

REASON #6

Overwatering in Cold Temperatures

This is a reason on my list that usually gets a few people scratching their heads...

But it's also something that can catch you by surprise if you're not careful.

Here's what I'm talking about:

If you're like me, you like to keep things as simple as possible, and get into a regular watering schedule with your orchids...

Cymbidiums every Saturday morning... Phals every four days, or what have you.

But one thing that's tough to remember is that as temperatures drop, the rate that water evaporates from your plants ALSO slows down.

So what that means, is this:

You need to SCALE BACK your watering during those cooler months a bit.

Otherwise you run the risk of OVERWATERING your orchid -- And overwatering can lead to all sorts of problems, including an orchid that simply will NOT be able to produce flowers for you (no matter how nicely you say 'please'... :-)

Now if you're concerned... I do cover the topic of overwatering & underwatering in a later newsletter.

(including a few simple tricks to figure out if you're guilty of over or under watering your plants - what I call "Orchid Water Torture"...)

Or of course, you learn EVERYTHING you need to know about watering your orchids right now by checking out our book (including everything explained much more detail than I could possibly cover in this newsletter):

<http://www.OrchidsMadeEasy.com/TheBook.html>

In your next issue of this newsletter, our countdown continues... and you'll discover the #5 Reason Why Your Orchid Won't Rebloom...

It's one of those things that many people COMPLETELY forget about when it comes to orchids... so you won't want to miss it.

Until next time...

To Healthy, Vibrant Blooms!

-Ryan "The Orchid Guy" :-)

<http://www.OrchidsMadeEasy.com/TheBook.html>

RL & Associates LLC

4500 Williams Drive
Suite #212-311

Georgetown, TX
78633
US